

Invitation to Cover

Contact:

Tomasia Kastner / tomasia.kastner@parks.nyc.gov / (212) 360-8284

Christina Pettit / cpettit@cityparksfoundation.org / (212) 360-8162

Partnerships for Parks
It's My Park Awards Reception
Brooklyn Volunteers to be Honored

Friends of Commodore Barry Park and NYC Skateboard Coalition will be Awarded for Outstanding Service, Activism, and Collaboration

Awards To Be Held Next Thursday, February 27

February 21, 2020 -- NEW YORK, NY -- Partnerships for Parks (PfP), a joint program of NYC Parks and City Parks Foundation, is pleased to announce a special 25th anniversary It's My Park Awards reception, recognizing New York City park volunteers who have demonstrated exceptional leadership and commitment to their local parks through service, advocacy, and collaboration. In 1995, Partnerships for Parks was founded to support community groups that had sprung up in the wake of the fiscal crisis to reclaim their parks. Today, PfP supports nearly 600 groups working to sustain 400 parks and green spaces across New York City, engaging over 25,000 volunteers annually. The awards reception will, for the first time, recognize both newer groups that are making an impact with Bright Future Awards as well as groups that have been involved in their local green spaces over the past 25 years with Legacy Awards. It's My Park is Partnerships for Parks' signature program to engage volunteers in hands-on service projects throughout New York City neighborhood parks. The reception will be held next Thursday, February 27, at the Prince George Ballroom, Manhattan.

This year's honorees are ten outstanding community groups from across the city, five selected from over 400 that participated in the 2019 It's My Park program and five selected from PfP's quarter-century of work in New York. This year alone, the groups participating in It's My Park amounted to more than 26,500 New Yorkers who organized and participated in over 1,280 park service projects in nearly 330 parks across the city. Over the last 25 years, the volunteers working with PfP have been essential to improving and sustaining New York City's 30,000 acres of green space, building long-term investment in these public spaces and strengthening the social fabric of their neighborhoods.

The ceremony will include remarks from Sabina Saragoussi, director of Partnerships for Parks; Heather Lubov, executive director of City Parks Foundation; and NYC Parks Commissioner Mitchell J. Silver, FAICP. All leaders will be on hand to honor and celebrate these inspiring volunteers for their outstanding service.

The Legacy Award recognizes Partnerships for Parks' long-standing partners, who have embodied PfP's mission by working with local residents and decision-makers to transform their parks and green spaces into thriving centers of community life. It will be presented to a community group from each borough that has led It's My Park and other programs, and has shown a long-term commitment to their community and local green space. The Legacy Award for Brooklyn goes to Friends of Commodore Barry Park, led by Rene Scotland.

Friends of Commodore Barry Park was founded in 2013 by Jocelyn Cooper and Rene Scotland. Through extensive outreach, membership has grown to span three generations of Fort Greene residents, some of whom have a long history of working with Partnerships for Parks. The group currently hosts regular community events such as health fairs and community unity days, advocates for park improvements, and plants hundreds of daffodils each year. Their help in promoting attendance for a key community input meeting on renovating the park was instrumental and over 100 people came out. Through their consistent efforts, FOCBP has bridged the gap between older and newer residents, bringing the diverse members of the Fort Greene community together for the benefit of the park and the neighborhood.

The Bright Future Award recognizes newly-formed community groups who led their first It's My Park project in October 2018 or later and have achieved crucial developmental milestones. It will be presented to a group from each borough whose swift and successful growth acts as an inspiration to others. The Bright Future Award for Brooklyn goes to NYC Skateboard Coalition, led by Ian Clarke and Casey Appledorn.

NYC Skateboard Coalition was founded in 2017 by Ian Clarke to advocate for skateparks and hosted its first It's My Park project in 2019 in Golconda Skate Park in Brooklyn. Before the group began caring for the park, it was debris-ridden and cleaning supplies were often stored outside and stolen. Through monthly It's My Park projects, the Coalition was able to grow and ended the year with an incredible turnout of nearly 100 volunteers. The group also obtained a tool storage unit from Commissioner Maher, where they store supplies to care for the skatepark, making it a safe space for all skateboarders to ride.

For more information on the It's My Park Program, please visit www.partnershipsforparks.com.

*It's My Park award winners were self or peer nominated and vetted by a Partnerships for Parks selection committee that focused on nominees' achievements in the past year, or over PfP's quarter-century of work. Special regard was given to nominees who overcame a challenge in their park or within their community group, coordinated an It's My Park project, and/or acted as an inspirational role model for NYC community park volunteers.*

When: February 27, 2020 / 6:30 pm – 9 pm

- Members of the press are invited to attend.
- Please RSVP to Tomasia Kastner – Tomasia.Kastner@parks.nyc.gov or (212) 360-8284

Where: Prince George Ballroom

- 15 E. 27th St., New York, NY 10016
- On-Site Contact: Tomasia Kastner / Tomasia.Kastner@parks.nyc.gov

Visuals:

- Remarks from NYC Parks Commissioner Mitchell J. Silver, City Parks Foundation Executive Director Heather Lubov, Amanda Foster and Sara Healey of TD Bank, and Partnerships for Parks Director Sabina Saragoussi
- Ten local community groups taking the podium to accept their awards
- 300 local NYC parks volunteers networking and enjoying refreshments

About Partnerships for Parks: Partnerships for Parks is a unique public-private partnership between City Parks Foundation and NYC Parks that supports and champions neighborhood volunteers by giving them the tools they need to advocate and care for their neighborhood parks and green spaces. More information about Partnership for Parks is available here.

Generous private support is provided by Altman Foundation, Con Edison, and the MJS Foundation. Public support is provided by the NYC Council under the leadership of Speaker Corey Johnson.

Presenting sponsor

###