CITYPARKS PLAY supports our mission to create vibrant and healthy urban communities by providing free sports programs to thousands of youngsters, transforming neighborhood parks into centers for recreation. We help NYC's youth learn self-confidence, practice good sportsmanship, stay active, and make new friends.

This year, CityParks Tennis will provide instruction to kids ages 6-17 in 22 parks throughout the five boroughs. Our tennis pros teach the basics using fun exercises and drills to help kids develop athletic skills, stay fit, and learn a sport for life. We have free classes for all skill levels and host competitions, tournaments, and free clinics with tennis legends such as Billie Jean King and John McEnroe.
